Biodiversity & Adventure in the Pacific

We will journey to one of the most biodiverse places on Earth, on a unique and unconventional adventure through our favorite destination: the Chocó Pacific. Four days filled with nature, adventure, exquisite cuisine, and breathtaking landscapes

Choose The Pacific!

From the paradisiacal surfing beaches of Nuquí, surrounded by lush jungles and crystal-clear rivers, we will journey along the southern tip of the Gulf of Tribugá in search of the ocean's goddesses—the humpback whales. A profound journey that invites us to reconnect with nature and ancestral wisdom.

The Gulf of Tribugá has been declared a UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve due to its crucial role in global conservation, home to countless endemic plants and a wide diversity of terrestrial and marine species that coexist in harmony with local communities and traditions.

Day 1:

Nuquí - Guachalito - Termales

Your adventure begins in Nuquí with a warm welcome, a regional snack, and a tasting of Viche, the traditional Pacific drink. A boat ride will then take you to the pristine beaches of Guachalito, where you'll enjoy lunch before hiking to Termales Beach. Along the way, you may visit the enchanting "Cascadas del Amor" waterfalls, with the option of returning by boat.

In the evening, a local chef will prepare a special welcome dinner that celebrates Pacific flavors. The day ends with a soothing dip in natural hot springs hidden in the jungle, the perfect moment to relax and connect with the magic of this extraordinary place

Accommodation:

Double or multiple accommodation in oceanfront cabins.

Meal:

Breakfast, Lunch and dinner

Included Activities:

- Viche tasting (traditional Pacific drink).
- Hike to Termales Beach
- Entry to natural hot springs in the middle of the jungle.

Optional activities:

visit to the "Cascadas del Amor" waterfalls – possibility of returning by boat.

The day begins with breakfast in the village of Termales, followed by one of the most anticipated experiences of the journey: whale watching in the Pacific. Guided by a local expert, you'll observe these majestic creatures in a responsible and respectful way, as they breach and play in the warm waters of the Gulf of Tribugá. The adventure continues with a visit to Cabo Corrientes, the southernmost point of the gulf, where, if weather conditions allow, you'll have the chance to snorkel in crystal-clear waters rich in marine life.

In the afternoon, we'll head to the village of Arusí for lunch and a cultural encounter with the local community. From there, a traditional chingo canoe will carry us along the Arusí River to the refreshing natural pool of Charco Molina. As the sun begins to set, we'll return by boat to Termales, where a delicious dinner awaits, closing the day with the ocean at your doorstep

Day 2:

Termales – Cabo corrientes – Arusí

Accommodation:

Double or multiple accommodation in oceanfront cabins.

Meals:

Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Inluded Activities:

- Whale watching with a local expert in responsible observation.
- Visit to Cabo Corrientes.
- Snorkeling in Cabo Corrientes.
- Visit to the village of Arusí.
- Chingo ride (traditional canoe) along the Arusí River to Charco Molina.
- Return to Termales by boat at sunset.

Day 3:

Termales – Trekking & Surf

Accommodation:

Double or multiple accommodation in oceanfront cabins.

Meal:

Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Included Activities:

- Jungle hike with environmental interpretation led by local guides.
- Visit to either the Four Charms Waterfalls or Palo Blanco
- Beach bonfire (weather permitting).

Optional activities:

Afternoon at Termales Beach: option for surf lessons with local youth or seaside massages.

The morning begins with breakfast in Termales, followed by a guided jungle hike where local experts share their deep knowledge of the rainforest, its ecosystems, and its ancestral significance. Depending on weather conditions, the adventure leads to either the magical Four Charms Waterfalls or the refreshing Palo Blanco cascade, both hidden treasures surrounded by lush vegetation. After this immersion in the forest, we'll return to Termales for lunch.

In the afternoon, the ocean takes center stage with time to relax on the beach, join a surf lesson led by local youth, or enjoy a restorative massage by the sea. As night falls, dinner will be served in Termales, and—if the weather allows—we'll gather around a bonfire on the beach, sharing stories under a starry Pacific sky.

Day 4:

Termales – Nuquí

Meals:
Breakfast

Included Activities:

- Boat transfer to Nuquí.
- Handicraft shopping and walking tour of Nuquí.

The last morning begins with breakfast in Termales before boarding a boat back to Nuquí. Once in town, there will be time to stroll through its streets, connect with the local atmosphere, and support community artisans by purchasing handmade crafts that capture the spirit of the Pacific.

This marks the end of our journey through the Gulf of Tribugá. Depending on flight schedules, we'll transfer to the airport for the return to Medellín, carrying unforgettable memories of the rainforest, the ocean, and the warmth of the Pacific people.
